THE EAGLES NEST

As the natives prepare to throw their spears at Stanley and Michael who are trussed up to a big tree, a tiger bounds into the clearing behind them. Garbo rushes off with Zoolah and the natives stampede.

Mary, the chimpanzee comes down from the branches of the tree and unties their ropes, enabling Stanley to get his gun and kill the tiger.

Garbo escapes with his cavaliers and Zoolah. Stanley takes Mary the chimpanzee with him and he and Michael follow after Garbo in hopes of rescuing Zoolah.

A band of Southlanders - who control the country just north of the Lost City are encamped on a great hunt. These are the same people who captured Zoolah and her sister in episode one as told in the vision (her story to Stanley)

The brother of the King who is now dead has recaptured Zoolah's sister. She is now his wife and they have a baby.

The King is cruel to his wife because her father, the King of the Lost City refuses to surrender to him.

These Southlanders are white men of the Viking type.

Garbo camps - ties Zoolah to a stake surrounds her by sleeping natives - Stanley and Michael creep up - send Mary - the chimpanzee into camp. She releases Zoolah and they steal three horses and ride away.

They reach the Southlanders camp - Zoolah finds her sister and fondles the baby. The present King loves his half-idolizes it. He orders Stanley and Michael to join his army and tells Scolah he will make her his second wife.

An eagle steals the baby and flies to a tall tree with it and drops it in a nest.

The King orders his wife hung for her carelessness while he gazes upward in horror as he sees the eagle circling about the nest. Scolah sees her sister about to die and sobs helplessly.
